True Type Technologies partners with one of Exit Realty's top real estate agents.

PR9.NET September 07, 2004 - True Type Technologies , an Internet solutions company, has been selected by Exit Realty's Judy Auger to help redesign the customer experience on her web-presence.

"We look forward to partnering with Mrs. Auger as she continues to evolve her web-presence to empower its vision to be a source of quality information for her clients and prespective clients," said Adam Winchester, Director of Customer Satisfaction at True Type Technologies.

This new partnership will leverage True Type Technologies' expertise in usability, experience-design and information architecture to enhance and streamline the user experience across the various online touchpoints.

"In True Type Technologies, we've found a strategic partner who understands my goals and objectives and can provide me with the innovative thinking and expert execution I need to implement these new and exciting functionality features," commented Judy Auger, Exit Realty Seaway's highest grossing sales representative..
