Dr. Kevin Leman, a popular speaker and bestselling author, founds new Christian online dating site that offers a free personality test based on his 30 years of clinical research.

PR9.NET September 16, 2004 - Tucson Arizona: According to popular psychologist Dr. Kevin Leman, birth order is synonymous with compatibility in personal relationships. Now millions of Christian singles will benefit from his free "Birth Order Personality Profile" found online at MatchWise.com (<http://www.matchwise.com>).

Based on leman's birth order and relationship research, the MatchWise Profile reveals one's personality and offers suggestions for a perfect match for any individual looking for a mate. The Profile offers a highly-accurate picture of the personality traits you were given at birth. The unique online test is based on the well-documented fact that birth order influences the way we relate to others – especially those of the opposite sex. Once these characteristics are known, any person can see how his or her personality strengths and patterns can lead to the best choice for a lasting love relationship.

The free MatchWise Profile provides a confidential report that details and describes how one's personality strengths, tendencies and patterns best complement another's. It can be taken at www.matchwise.com.

Dr. Kevin Leman is the author of 21 books on birth order and how to cultivate rewarding, lasting relationships. He has been a frequent contributor to CNN's American Morning with Paula Zahn and has been a featured guest on numerous radio and television programs including Oprah, CBS' The Early Show, Live with Regis and Kelly, Today, The View with Barbara Walters, and Focus on the Family. Dr. Leman has also served as a consulting family psychologist to the television program, Good Morning America.
