New line of pallet lifters, jacks and transporters more than doubles the amount of warehouse equipment previously available to customers

PR9.NET January 26, 2005 - KAYSVILLE, Utah, – OfficeZone.com today announced that it added several new products to its current line of warehouse equipment. The new products will more than double the amount of warehouse equipment currently available to customers. New products include pallet lifts, transporters, pallet jacks, hand trucks, movable work stools, container tilts and more.

Purchasing equipment for a new or existing warehouse can be a daunting task. In order to keep a warehouse running smoothly, several products are needed to help automate the process. Rather than take time to look for warehouse equipment at traditional brick and mortar stores, you can now search through dozens of pallet jacks, lifts, hand trucks, transporters and more right from your computer (<http://www.officezone.com/warehouse-lifts.htm>).

The new selection of pallet jacks, lifts and transporters makes moving heavy pallets easy. Pallet lifts and transporters let warehouse employees move products easily from one shelf to another in seconds. Safety features have been built in to prevent costly and dangerous warehouse accidents. Tilters and hand trucks make moving equipment and materials a snap. Our new work stools are set on casters and have convenient tool compartments built into the body of the stool. This is especially nice for working on lower warehouse shelves and counting inventory.

OfficeZone.com is just a mouse click away and offers some of the widest selection of warehouse equipment available over the Internet. This provides warehouse supervisors and purchasing departments with the convenience of ordering warehouse equipment and accessories online. Many customers are surprised when they find us online and see how many products, pictures and quantity information we have.
