Voice123 unveils it's new design together with improved user interface and features.

PR9.NET May 10, 2005 - New York, NY – Voice123 (www.voice123.com), the largest online voice over marketplace, launched it's redesigned website and announced the improvement of important features and services.

In efforts to continuously provide customers with a valuable service, Voice123's redesign includes new colors, icons, and pictures conceived to project warmth and energy. It's young and talented Art & Design team worked to keep the easy navigation around rounded shapes and a more condensed typography.

In addition to the website's face lift, Voice123 also made significant changes to it's voice talents' lead manager interface and the lead answering process in order to increase voice talents' efficiency and effectiveness when managing and answering voice over leads, as well as to help clients find voice over talents more accurately and faster.

All of these changes are due to a permanent redevelopment process that Voice123 is undergoing driven by a consistent fast growth. The commitment of the company to it's customers is to make them feel they have a constant and professional support, pointing out their strong marketing efforts to increase talents' and clients' online exposure. This means we can expect future improvements from Voice123.com and an increased recognition in the voice over industry.
