PR9.NET September 12, 2005 - OSLO, NORWAY-- ObjectPlanet AS (www.objectplanet.com) a leading provider of innovative Online Survey Software, Charting and Network Monitoring solutions has announced the launch of Opinio 5.2 The Corporate & Enterprise Survey Software Solution.

Since launching Opinio 5 series, users of Opinio™ have enjoyed features like multilingual support which allows survey administrators to publish single surveys in multiple languages, as well as the new collaboration feature which allows multiple administrators to post and exchange comments during the development of the survey.

Opinio™5.2 is further enhancing of the 5 series with new features that include invitee import with custom data, user/author search, improved error reporting, and an entirely new feature that allows the survey author to edit text in a running/live survey. Opinio™ 5.2 also introduces the ability to see the online users, a special feature which is very useful when doing server maintenance, also added are overall security and other improvements for the markets most useful survey software all available for the corporate and enterprise editions.

"These are key features of Opinio 5.2 and it shows our dedication to meeting the ever increasing demands of today's companies whether they are doing business locally or globally" – says Evan J.A. Ellingsen, International Sales Manager of ObjectPlanet. "Opinio™ has been the choice of not only businesses but colleges, universities and educational institutions alike as we afford them even greater value with our special educational discount" followed Ellingsen.

"This new version elevates Opinio even further as the number one choice for data collection. Again we've received great feedback from our users on the new features, which confirms that we are on the right track as we are reaching for the perfect system for opinion research." – says Torgeir Lund, ObjectPlanet CEO.

ObjectPlanet's recent survey <http://www.objectplanet.com/Opinio/> shows that more than 90% of the respondents to a recent survey of Opinio customers would recommend the product to others and 80% of respondents noted that their investment had paid for itself in just four months or less! "This coupled with our ability to listen to our customers when developing new features has led to a tremendous response from the professional business market and with a special non-profit/education discount we have received a tremendous response from non-profits and educational institutions across the globe" says an enthusiastic Ellingsen.

Opinio™ Software is priced starting at USD 2,000 for the corporate edition and USD 3,750 for the enterprise edition.
