radioEARTH, one of the oldest show prep sites on the Internet for Radio hosts, is now accepting and publishing Press Releases at no charge and making them available to site visitors.

PR9.NET October 12, 2005 - Do you have a book, product or service that lends itself to a Radio interview? There are hundreds of Radio hosts looking for program material. Morning shows, talk show hosts, syndicated programs, and Radio personalities in various formats and situations are constantly seeking fresh show material, new guests, experts, and others to entertain and inform their audiences.

Authors, companies involved in public relations and promotion, and others with something that lends itself to Radio interviews are now encouraged to send Press Releases to radioEARTH for publication in the new Guest Index.

radioEARTH is one of the oldest Radio sites on the Internet and has been operating since 1994. It is visited by hundreds of radio professionals each week who are looking for show prep material.

"It's a great opportunity for anyone who wants free publicity," says Corey Deitz, radioEARTH's webmaster.
