

Latin American Markets - Market Research in Latin America

Focustrade, November 09, 2005

URL: <http://www.pr9.net/business/marketing/2916november.html>

Latin American Markets is a new place to get information, articles, news and market reports in Latin America.

PR9.NET November 09, 2005 - Latin American Markets (www-latinamerican-markets.com) is a new place to get information, articles, news and market reports in Latin America. This site is your way to the most accurate, reliable and updated information and commercial intelligence services on the largest Latin American countries.

Latin American markets offer the most complete market research, analysis and information on industrial and service sectors, competitors, demand, consumers and distribution channels on the main Latin American countries.

When a company need to plan or design a marketing strategy including either a market entry strategy, a product introduction, research on a specific sector, monitor a market niche or evaluate the demand situation, we are the right place to offer a solution to your requirements.

Latin American Markets is a simple tool for your marketing decisions and strategy development into Latin American markets. You may find products and services organized by categories, markets or sectors.

This site is operated by FOCUSTRADE - Daniel Avaro y Asociados, an argentine based company, offering market intelligence services for more than 20 years into the international marketing field, and being active in the market development and research for the largest Latin American countries.

We also are a valuable source of information, jointly with our specific blog LATIN AMERICAN MARKETS INFORMATION AND NEWS (<http://latinamerican-markets.blogspot.com>), whose main news are published into our news aggregator.

The site was developed to be a daily tool for corporate or individual users engaged into marketing planning. Most products for sale are developed by us or some partner companies which focus on different sectors and countries.

After its launching, we are just offering Argentina market reports, and in the near future we will be adding those reports for Mexico, Brazil, Chile, Colombia and Venezuela.

Latin American Markets is the right place to look for market and financial intelligence on Latin American markets and companies.

###

About Focustrade

Focustrade is an argentine based company, offering market intelligence services for more than 20 years into the international marketing field, and being active in the market development and research for the largest Latin American countries.

Website: <http://www.latinamerican-markets.com>

---

PR9.NET - Your Free Press Release Service