Can't think of a gift for the person who has everything? RambleWeb.com automatically generates gift ideas and lets you search them out.

PR9.NET November 09, 2005 - Ottawa, Ontario, Canada – Christmas gift giving has just got easier with the addition of Gift Guru to RambleWeb.com.

For anyone who has gone through the frustration of finding a gift for those who are difficult to buy for, the Gift Guru at Rambleweb.com lets you wander through thousands of gift ideas and provides you with gift ideas that you might never have thought of.

With the Gift Guru, Christmas shoppers can avoid those old standby gifts that are never appreciated or destined to be re-gifted. By providing visitors with an opportunity to explore a variety of gift ideas without the bias of last minute impulse shopping, RambleWeb strives to help people uncover new ideas, different perspectives and stimulate creativity at a time when people are pressed for time.

Building on the initial response to RambleWeb, we have set our sites on helping people save time in the busy Christmas shopping season and intend to provide a creative stimulus that will generate new gift giving ideas. As a source for unique ideas, RambleWeb.com provides easy access to a wide range of gift suggestions that may otherwise go unnoticed yet. "There are far too many people who rely on a standard gift giving routine during the holidays, so we have made it our goal to stamp out gifts of bad ties and sweaters, by inserting some creativity into the Christmas shopping season" said RambleWeb.com founder Chris Young.

He added; "After the initial launch of our site earlier this fall, the feedback has been fantastic, as people began to recognize just how confined they are in their web experience. Our unique approach to Rambling the Web is ideally suited to browsing for gifts during the Christmas season, and for our visitors, the best part is, we are not a store so our focus is on providing ideas rather than moving products."
