PR9.NET November 23, 2005 - The countdown to Christmas has begun, the excitement is beginning to build, and now is the time to plan for the perfect Christmas Dinner. For everything you need to know, Bernard Matthews website <http://www.bernardmatthews.com> is here to guide you through the planning right up until the big day.

<http://www.bernardmatthews.com> has a brand new Christmas section that is easy to follow and will ensure that Christmas dinner is virtually stress free! The website is straightforward with clearly marked sections making it extremely easy to navigate. There's everything you need to make this year's festive feast a success, for instance when to buy the turkey, how to defrost the turkey and on the day how to cook the turkey beautifully. With its warm, festive look and appetising photography, you will feel instantly inspired.

It's never too early to start getting organised so check out the handy six-week Christmas planner. Week by week suggestions on great time saving tips and reminders will ensure there are no last minute panics and nothing is left to chance - for example, there are drink suggestions, party recipes, ideas on the perfect dinner trimmings and what to do if the turkey won't fit into the freezer!

The suggested Christmas day timetable starts at 8.30am, with an easy to follow time chart to help keep the kitchen a stress free zone. You'll find they've thought of everything to ensure Christmas entertaining runs as smoothly as possible!

As well as the traditional favourite Golden Norfolk Turkey, check out the other convenient joints available in the Bernard Matthews Christmas range. The website contains all the information you need, plus great serving tips and turkey leftover recipes.

And for a chance to make Christmas even easier, enter the new Christmas competition to win a fantastic hamper full of festive goodies plus a voucher for a bootiful Bernard Matthews Golden Norfolk Turkey.

With over 50 years' experience, Bernard Matthews is the expert when it comes to turkey. For lots more tips on the perfect Christmas dinner and festive meal recipes – check the website – <http://www.bernardmatthews.com>.

And, on Christmas Day, leave your worries behind with Bernard Matthews - the name you can trust for the perfect Christmas lunch.
