An avid online gamer and researcher setups up web site to help fellow World of Warcraft players find the best deals when buying their in game currency – Gold.

PR9.NET November 23, 2005 - Halifax, NS – When World of Warcraft was first released in late 2004 Mark MacKay waited in line for over 4 hours at his local game shop so he could be one of the first to play the game. After spending a few weeks learning the game and having lots of fun, Mark was getting badly out classed. So he started searching the Internet for some World of Warcraft hints and tips.

Now looking back, Mark laughs at some of the information and recommendations he come across and actually tried. One method of improving his World of Warcraft game status that stands out in his mind was to actually email your log in details to a hotmail account and the person claimed they would earn you 1,000,000 Gold. Mark admits he never actually bought into that one but is sure some people did.

Not wanting similar things to happen to his fellow World of Warcraft players now and in the future Mark decided to create a place where only legitimate options are listed. Doing research in forums and blogs Mark has created a web site showing a list of the top World of Warcraft gold currency service providers, and what their current gold prices are.

This new site will educate those looking for in-game currency and let them use this to make informed decisions on where they should buy their World of Warcraft Gold. In the past the only way to buy gold was to search the forums, and then you would usually send some money to a paypal account, but you never actually know if you would ever receive it. Then people started using eBay to sell gold, which was a bit more reliable, now companies with 24 hour live help and numerous payment options have setup entire web sites dedicated to just selling World of Warcraft Gold.

Mark said his Strategy Guide link has been extremely poplar in terms of web site page views. He also included a section for players looking to move up a level or two. This service is called power leveling. People like the higher levels because of all the extra game features that you get, but not everybody has the time to achieve this goal, so they pay to get their.

Mark admits that he does receive a small fee for referring people to the various World of Warcraft gold currency service providers. It is just about enough to cover the domain name fee and hosting charges.
