

Lingo24 attracting high quality international talent

Lingo24, November 24, 2005

URL: <http://www.pr9.net/business/ecommerce/3014november.html>

Lingo24 is delighted to announce the appointment of three important new additions to its international team who will be based in Scotland, Germany and Romania. All three began work on 14th November and have come through a challenging first week with flying colours.

PR9.NET November 24, 2005 - Lingo24 is delighted to announce the appointment of three important new additions to its international team who will be based in Scotland, Germany and Romania. All three began work on 14th November and have come through a challenging first week with flying colours.

Carolyn Jarvis, a qualified translator and former manager at renowned foreign language book-sellers Grant & Cutler in London, joins as customer relations assistant.

"I'm thrilled to be joining Lingo24 and look forward to working closely with both Lingo24's clients and my new colleagues," said Carolyn.

Annika Neudecker, a long-term freelance translator for Lingo24, joins as German translator.

"I already know the team at Lingo pretty well," said Annika, "and am, quite literally, sure that this new relationship will be both fun and rewarding for both parties. I'm also looking forward to working with Lingo24's German clients to ensure all their needs are met."

Ioana Mihailas, a talented linguist who speaks fluent Norwegian among other languages, joins as links manager.

"I'm delighted to join one of the world's leading translation agencies," says Ioana, "And look forward to developing professionally within this company. This week has been hectic, but I've certainly learnt a lot!"

"We are delighted to welcome onboard three very gifted individuals, and are confident they will help Lingo24 continue to grow," piped up Lingo24 founder Christian Arno, "It's been a busy week for us with three new arrivals and the excitement of the World Travel Market in London, where we met with many of our clients and partners, but it's been very worthwhile. Lingo24 continues to develop quickly, and we look forward to making significant new announcements in the near future."

###

About Lingo24

About Lingo24

Lingo24 is one of the fastest-growing translation companies in the world, with operations in the UK and seven other countries worldwide. Founded in 2001, the company is a great case study for:

: e-business (90% of its customers find it through the Internet)

: globalisation (its business is a barometer of globalisation for British business, and the company itself has 'internationalised' in a short space of time)

: EU expansion (the company's largest operation in Timisoara, Romania)

: green business (the company has a strict environmental policy and limited office use to minimise unnecessary travel)

: home-working (Lingo24 employees work from home more than 95% of the time)

: youthful entrepreneurialism (the company was established by a bubbly 22 year old Oxford graduate!)

Phone: +442079527500
Website: <http://www.lingo24.com>
E-Mail: links@lingo24.com
Address: Lingo24 Ltd.
131-151 Great Titchfield Street
London
W1W 5BB

---

