Discovering golf course real estate made easier with a new website focused on matching home buyers to golf community realtors, builders and developers.

PR9.NET December 04, 2005 - Home Connect LLC today announced the launch of GolfHomeConnect.com, a free online home buyer's guide featuring golf community real estate in the United States, Canada and Mexico. GolfHomeConnect.com matches prospective vacation and retirement home buyers to golf community realtors, builders and developers through innovative free and sponsored onsite advertising.

To help promote the launch of the site, GolfHomeConnect.com is extending 3 months of complimentary lead referrals to realtors, builders and developers until Dec. 16, 2005. For more details, visit www.golfhomeconnect.com.

Real estate professionals have an unparalleled opportunity to showcase new and resale properties to the thousands of home buyers using the internet each month to find and research private gated and active lifestyle communities. By offering free and sponsored onsite advertising, Golf Home Connect increases golf real estate visibility for participating advertisers.

Golf Home Connect has been designed to be the premier online active lifestyle resource by balancing the home buyer's need for content with the real estate professional's desire to cost effectively generate high quality vetted prospects. With a focus on quality, Golf Home Connect screens all site visitor inquiries to ensure that only highly vetted pre-qualified home buyers are relayed to member real estate professionals.

By listing with Golf Home Connect, realtors, developers and builders are targeting home buyers at the onset of the online research process when individuals are identifying home purchasing criterion. This ensures maximum exposure for private gated communities prior to home buyers moving inquiries offline.

Home buyers benefit from onsite tools that facilitate golf real estate discovery with a few clicks of the mouse. Detailed real estate profiles cut search times and allow site visitors to quickly and easily find the perfect home complete with recreation activities, facilities and amenities.

Home buyers can choose to browse golf course community listings by region, state or city, the perfect option for individuals moving to a new or particular geographic area. Those unsure of any specifics may elect to use the innovative search functionality that quickly locates golf course properties by price range, location and amenities.
