Join Bizymoms on Dec 15th for a Free One-Hour Teleconference, Where They Will Give Away a Welcome Service Start-Up Kit.

PR9.NET December 09, 2005 - Bizymoms.com – Next week Bizymoms will be giving away a Welcome Service Business Start-Up Kit during a free, live, one-hour teleconference.

The Welcome kit is worth $349 and includes business and marketing workbooks, and a five-page web site that is totally interactive. Orders can be taken from the site and it also includes a database. You can include up to five different packets; like the newcomer kit, new baby packets, new pet packets, holiday packets, and many others.

As an associate, you will be in a network of other Welcome Service Associates found at <http://www.yournewtowngreetings.com>. This website will be heavily marketed so when someone moves to a new town, they can find an associate in their area and have a kit delivered to their home.

It's estimated that 40 million Americans will be making a move in the coming year. Thanks to this business career kit, targeted at women who want to own a home-based business, new movers don't have to feel so lost in their new town.

This business is two fold. The associate will first be working with local businesses in their area. Businesses will pay to have a coupon or information about their business included in the kit. New comers will receive the kit for free. The associate then has the opportunity to give personal recommendations for the businesses represented and inform them about opportunities in their new town.

"If a woman loves to talk and make new people feel welcome, then this type of home business is perfect for them." Explains Liz Folger, founder of Bizymoms.com. The Welcome Service career kit is a unique opportunity that allows women, who don't have a business, or marketing or web design background, to start their own successful welcome service business in just a matter of weeks.

The goal of Bizymoms.com is to help women find a business they are proud to own, and then help them step-by-step make their home business dream a reality. Bizymoms.com has been helping moms become business owners since 1997. The site offers many resources from online chats to ebooks and online classes. Just recently they've added home business career kits that are proving to be quite popular and needed.

This one-hour teleconference call will be held Dec 15th at 9 PM EST. You must be present to win the kit. During the call you will have the opportunity to learn more about how you can make money with this very exciting business kit.
