

ConferenceCallInc.com Supplies Up-to-date and Free Information on Teleconferencing Service Providers and their Rates

Vellum LLC, December 09, 2005

URL: <http://www.pr9.net/comp/internet/3188december.html>

New project assists in researching for conferencing service providers, gives details about the types of their services and prices, offers free additional information which includes teleconferencing news, reviews, newsletters and more.

PR9.NET December 09, 2005 - Vellum LLC introduced a new Internet project on audio, web and video conferencing and other types of teleconferencing and related services. ConferenceCallInc.com provides consumers of the conferencing services with a database of respected providers that contains their prices and services and with information on the industry tendencies and news, including reviews, newsletters, articles and more.

ConferenceCallInc.com suggests consumers of the teleconferencing service a quick and easy way of searching for a suitable provider. It offers a database of respected conference companies that gives consumers full details about them: their names, rates and contact details. The conferencing services in the database are separated by type, and the rates for each of the service are indicated. That makes the process of searching for a provider easier and less time-consuming.

To make a search even more convenient, ConferenceCallInc.com has developed a free Conference Service Price Comparison database which enables consumers to find out the rates of different companies for the same service type. The list of services includes Reservationless, Web-scheduled, Web conferencing, Video conferencing, Digital recording, Transcription, Translation, International members, Free trial and Audio conferencing.

Conferencing services are used by public companies, training and educational organizations, non-profits and so on. All these consumers need different instructions and details about the industry.

ConferenceCallInc.com passes on useful information that may help them to solve some problems connected with teleconferencing, which they face. It gives online tips, articles, reviews and advice that can be useful for those, who want to follow the teleconferencing trends and innovations. ConferenceCallInc.com publishes the industry news, has a news archive and offers to subscribe to their newsletter to obtain reports of the industry events.

ConferenceCallInc.com also contains some helpful information for conference companies and assists in advertising and promoting their services. ConferenceCallInc.com provides them with interesting industry facts, plans, achievements, new services, price reduction and other kinds of promotional campaigns. It also highlights the teleconferencing tendencies and news that helps conferencing service providers to stay in competition.

For additional information on the news that is the subject of the release, contact Alex Grodov or visit the website – www.conferencecallinc.com

###

About Vellum LLC

Vellum LLC is an Internet agency that owns a number of online stores and runs a few Internet content projects.