PR9.NET December 13, 2005 - The Go Wild Gardening Co designers produce hand drawn and coloured garden plans for formal gardens, child friendly gardens, wild gardens and low maintenance gardens. Go Wild Gardening Co plans, builds and maintains gardens in an environmentally friendly manner in Oxford and Oxfordshire. Its garden designers and landscapers of gardens have been active in and around Oxford since 1995. The Go Wild Gardening Co is committed to enhancing the environment and to encouraging wildlife to thrive wherever possible.

Patios (<http://www.gowildgardening.co.uk/patios.htm>)

All our patios and terraces are hand built to the highest standard. We always build on a proper foundation, use five spot concrete to achieve a stable base and hand point the joints with wet mortar. We are experienced in using many different materials including traditional paving slabs, reclaimed bricks, Natural Indian Stone and Shotsawn Sandstone.

Ponds (<http://www.gowildgardening.co.uk/ponds.htm>)

Ponds are a speciality of ours and we are able to construct ponds to suit every requirement. Our favourite is of course the Wildlife Pond, and we have had a great deal of success with our ponds attracting frogs, toads, newts and a wide variety of insects, often before we have finished construction. As well as the obvious benefits to wildlife - we have had ducks, deer, badgers and even on one occasion a passing kingfisher visiting our ponds - we find they are of huge interest and visual attraction in a garden. Child safety is of foremost importance before considering a pond. We do have ways to make a pond safe for children.

Planting (<http://www.gowildgardening.co.uk/planting.htm>)

Perhaps the most personal aspect of the design, we have a particular style of planting which we use when clients have no other special preference. Plants are chosen for their visual impact, be it for colour combinations, form or structure, and also for their importance to wildlife and for culinary and aromatic reasons. Trees are used as much as possible to bring all-important height to the garden. Our designs always take into consideration the all-round interest of a garden, making sure that there are evergreens or plants of interest to entertain through the winter months. We have a good knowledge of plant requirements and take this into account when locating shade tolerant or sun loving species and also acid- and lime-hating plants.
