

Wireless-phone.com to offer Motorola i830

Anliker Holding, December 13, 2005

URL: <http://www.pr9.net/business/telecom/3254december.html>

Calling-plans.com has announced that their website, www.wireless-phone.com, will now offer the Motorola i830 cell phone in the silver and the bronze.

PR9.NET December 13, 2005 - Walla Walla, WA. – Calling-plans.com has announced that their website, www.wireless-phone.com, will now offer the Motorola i830 cell phone in the silver and the bronze. The cell phone will cost customers $49.99 after a cash back rebate and does require a service agreement with a major carrier.

The Motorola i830 offers speakerphone, airplane mode and preloaded games including Tetris. It features a large 65,000-color display and is ready for mobile browsing. It also offers a one-touch direct connect button for walkie-talkie style of communicating and features a three-hour talk time.

"The addition of the Motorola i830, in both colors will be a great addition to our current cell phone line up," stated Greg Anliker, president of Calling-plans.com, "giving our customers more options to choose from." For more information about the Motorola i830, visit www.wireless-phone.com.

Calling-plans.com has been providing comparison-shopping tools for telecommunication services, including cellular services, for over nine years. Calling-plans.com provides long distance services, VoIP services, calling cards and more. They currently manage several telecommunication websites. For more information visit them at www.calling-plans.com.

###

About Anliker Holding

Anliker Holding