"Consumers are desperate for good quality content and the new video iPod users are no different." The initial iVideoBlast.com library includes classic American video entertainment like Popeye, Betty Boop, Beverly Hillbillies, Andy Griffith, Looney Tunes, Three Stooges and much more.

PR9.NET December 16, 2005 - iVideoBlast.com offers a new service to deliver the best classic Animation, TV Shows and Movies for your video iPod. The website – www.iVideoBlast.com – went live on December 12, 2005. The launch is just in time to help holiday shoppers add more value to their iPod purchases by including classic video entertainment for as little as $.99.

"The new video iPod is one of the top selling products for Christmas 2005 but the iPod technology is only as good as the content available for it," informs Justin Thorn co-founder of iVideoBlast.com.

Co-founder Scott Britner adds, "Consumers are desperate for good quality content and the new video iPod users are no different." The initial iVideoBlast.com library includes classic American video entertainment like Popeye, Betty Boop, Beverly Hillbillies, Andy Griffith, Looney Tunes, Three Stooges and much more.

If you own a video iPod or you are giving one as a gift be sure to visit www.iVideoBlast.com and fuel your iPod with a library of video classics... all for just $.99 per Animation or TV Show or $1.99 per movie.

For more information visit www.iVideoBlast.com.
