Great theatre entertainment is not solely confined to London's west end – The Royal Shakespeare Company is having the biggest theatrical celebration in its history between April and October 2006.

PR9.NET December 19, 2005 - Throughout the world London's west end is known as the best place in the world for quality theatre productions. However, for those looking for a relaxing trip to the theatre to see a world class production they no longer have to travel to the nation's capital. Quite simply, the quality of shows in some of the UK's provincial towns and cities is excellent and will leave the audience thoroughly captivated.

Being the birthplace of William Shakespeare Stratford-upon-Avon is perhaps an obvious place to expect quality theatre productions. However, from April to October next year the Royal Shakespeare Company will be having the biggest theatrical celebration in its history. 'Shakespeare : The Complete Works' is fairly self explanatory as the company will stage all of the classics from A Midsummer Night's Dream to Hamlet. Superbreak ( <http://www.superbreak.com> ) has a range of great accommodation plus ticket deals for all the performances available now – so why not turn a trip to the theatre into a weekend to remember?

Some of the great packages include;
