Marketing Guru develops system that will generate thousands of leads right from your current website.

PR9.NET February 10, 2006 - Las Vegas, NV - Buying 3rd Party leads is necessary expense for insurance agents who need prospects, but as you know most of them are just "rate shopping" draining your budget, time, and resources.

This is why Hidden Insurance Leads.com whose staff includes a 11 year veteran of the sales business, has developed this lead generation system that will work for any agency, territory, market, or website.

As a direct response marketer, the founder got tired of seeing agents pay $15, $18, and even $20 for a lead that was not in the market. Now he is exposing what has been learned about how to generate leads to any agent who wants to reduce their lead generation expenses and dramatically increase their sales simultaneously.

Due to the fact that most conversion rates for websites is less than 4%, Hidden Insurance Leads solves the problem that most agents face. What to do with the 96% of the visitors that leave your site unaccounted for.

In fact, the CEO, Gus Skarlis states: "If you can find a lead generation system that is more effective or that produces more prospects than Hidden Insurance Leads, even if it is double the price, I will buy it for you and give you $5,000 for finding it."

"With this system," says a company spokesperson, "It will catapult you way, way, way ahead of your present and future competition, in spite of how successful your marketing campaigns are right now. It will continually increase your market share forever."

"Due to the nature of this system, Hidden Insurance Leads is expected to change the way that insurance agents look at lead generation websites" noted a company insider.
