

Teencells.com offers new Samsung A900

Anliker Holding, January 26, 2006

URL: <http://www.pr9.net/business/telecom/3438january.html>

TeenCells.com has announced that their website, www.teencells.com has added the Samsung A900 cell phone to their lineup.

PR9.NET January 26, 2006 - Walla Walla, WA. – TeenCells.com has announced that their website, www.teencells.com has added the Samsung A900 cell phone to their lineup. The Samsung A900 will be available to customers who sign up for a service agreement with a major carrier.

The Samsung A900 features an integrated digital camera, Bluetooth technology, and a built in MP3 player. The A900 offers multimedia messaging including photos and text and also features PC synchronization with additional software. For more information about the Samsung A900 visit www.teencells.com.

"The addition of the A900 expands the collection of cell phones that www.teencells.com currently offers," stated Robyn Abrames, Webmaster for TeenCells.com, "The MP3 player and the camera should appeal to the teen market."

Teencells.com offers a variety of cell phones and plans from all of the major carriers. The website is teen friendly and offers the latest cellular gadgets, ringtones and a phone of the week section. The site also features comparison charts and prepaid cellular options. For more information, visit them at www.teencells.com.

###

About Anliker Holding

Anliker Holding