BlueBean, LLC, the RFID Solutions Company (www.bluebeanrfid.com), has announced that their new Tech Team provides the resources companies need to implement their RFID solutions.

PR9.NET February 06, 2006 - Carmel, IN -- "Our BlueBean Tech Team is trained on the latest RFID technology," says BlueBean President Gregg Maggioli. "Whether you have no IT department or just need to compliment your own IT staff during RFID projects, the BlueBean Tech Team can help."

The BlueBean Tech Team provides a number of important RFID services and solutions including tag placement, antenna field mapping and RF environment surveys. The BlueBean Tech Team also handles middleware development and product testing.

Reader configuration and set up can also be adeptly handled by BlueBean's top-notch Technology Team. Additionally, the BlueBean Tech Team provides maintenance and support services through phone, e-mail and site visits as well as extended service warranties.

"RFID technology can be intimidating," adds Maggioli. "With BlueBean's new Tech Team, clients can feel at ease knowing that an expert is at their disposal to install their systems and answer their questions."
