

Stylin' Concepts Announces New "Bad Boy" Air Horn.

Stylin Concepts, March 06, 2006

URL: <http://www.pr9.net/business/assoc/3562march.html>

Stylin' Concepts' new horn is twice as loud as most factory horns.

PR9.NET March 06, 2006 - Independence, Ohio - Stylin' Concepts, the nation's leading retailer of truck and SUV accessories, is pleased to announce the addition of Wolo's new "Bad Boy" air horn kit to its already extensive line of custom truck accessories.

Twice as loud as most factory horns, the "Bad Boy" horn kit from Wolo screams out at 118 decibels! The one-bolt installation and its compact size means that you can mount it most anywhere. And with only two wires to connect, you can use your existing horn wiring for a seamless, factory-looking installation. The sound, however, is far from what you'd get from the factory. Lay on the horn and people will pay attention when, (and where), you want them to.

Complete specifications and pricing information can be found on Stylin' Concepts' website at www.stylinconcepts.com.

###

About Stylin Concepts

About Stylin' Trucks

A 20-year leader in providing performance products for sport, off-road, and pickup trucks, as well as SUVs, Stylin' Trucks has grown from a small, regional retailer to a national player with hundreds of thousands of customers. The company, located in Independence, Ohio, has a continually growing staff, as well as a large operations center, two warehouses and multiple mail order catalogs, each tailored to the specific needs of different customers.

Phone:	216-643-6600
FAX:	216-643-6610
Website:	http://www.StylinTrucks.com
E-Mail:	jrice@stylintrucks.com
Address:	7820 E. Pleasant Valley Rd. Independence, OH 44131`