GizMac Accessories Increases Color Choices for Titan Anodized Aluminum Nano iPod Cases

PR9.NET March 27, 2006 - Torrance, CA – GizMac Accessories LLC, designer and manufacturer of innovative "Gizmos for your Lifestyle", announce the addition of new color choices for their Titan anodized aluminum Nano iPod cases.

GizMac announced and displayed samples of the soon to be released Titan Nano iPod cases in their booth at the MacWorld Exposition in January. The new Nano iPod cases are part of GizMac's emerging line of accessories for the Apple iPod, additional GizMac products are expected to be released in the near future.

"Black, aluminum, pink, purple and gold were our initial colors for the Titan Nano iPod cases," says Ken Vitto, Director of Marketing for GizMac, "But after we received a great number of responses telling us how unique and amazing the colors look from being anodized on an aluminum iPod case, we decided to add cranberry, baby blue, light green and dark orange colors right away."

In addition to its unique look from using anodized aircraft aluminum, the Titan Nano iPod case also provides a superior strength to weight ratio by the use of lightweight metal. Not only does the aluminum Nano iPod case protect the iPod, but the included screen and scroll wheel protector also shield the iPod from other potential damage.

"Cause Everyone Wears Their iPod Differently" is the motto of the Titan Nano iPod case for a good reason, the included carabiner clip, armband, belt clip with 360 degree rotation (for vertical, horizontal or any position in between) and lanyard accessories provide a wide range of ways to wear the Nano iPod case. The Titan goes even one step further with the ability to easily change whether the top or the bottom of the Nano iPod case faces upward or downward, providing unmatched flexibility in an iPod case.
