BlueBean, LLC, the RFID Solutions Company (www.bluebeanrfid.com), has unveiled its latest RFID solution kit – the BlueBean Simple Conveyor Portal.

PR9.NET March 23, 2006 - The BlueBean Simple Conveyor Portal is a radio frequency identification (RFID) conveyor portal/tunnel solution that is specifically designed to be used with existing conveyors.

"It has never been easier to RFID-enable your existing conveyors," says BlueBean President Gregg Maggioli. "This RFID solution kit uses T-slot technology for easy modifications and assembly. In fact, only one hand tool is required to assemble and that's included in the RFID conveyor portal kit."

Manufactured from extruded aluminum and framed with RF reflective mesh panels to contain the RF field, BlueBean's RFID Simple Conveyor Portal Solution provides smooth multi-vendor reader and antenna integration. "A great feature of this RFID conveyor portal is that it is compatible with all readers and antennas," adds Maggioli. "You can use your existing RFID equipment to get this portal up and running."

Additionally, the BlueBean RFID Simple Conveyor Portal Solution kit allows for adjustable antenna mounts and four-side read capability -- that means less errors and greater productivity. Options include RFID reader, antennas, status lights, photoeyes, I/O controller and PLC.

The BlueBean RFID Simple Conveyor Portal Solution can be customized for your specific application and is available for purchase through RFIDSupplyChain.com, the One-Stop RFID Shop. RFIDSupplyChain.com, one of BlueBean's strategic partners, is an online RFID store that offers solutions for all of your RFID technology needs.
