WireNine has added Easy-to-use RVSiteBuilder free for all hosting customers.

PR9.NET April 06, 2006 - BRAMPTON, Ontario -- WireNine (<http://www.wirenine.com>), a shared and reseller web hosting provider announced on Thursday that it has added RVSiteBuilder software to all of WireNine's hosting plans, free for all hosting customers.

RVSiteBuilder is an advanced website builder. Easily create the website through the step by step navigator from creating the project, add the company name, web site title, upload logo, select the templates, tweak the template styles, choose the preferred navigator, create and manage page structure, edit the page with WYSIWYG html editor, add extra component, preview and publish the website. It is packed with colorful stylish templates, page layout and navigator styles.

"This offering is the latest move in our continuing effort to make web hosting easy, we want to allow our customers to create a professional-grade Web site that will stand apart from those of their competitors," says WireNine Founder and CEO Ali Khan.
