PR9.NET April 10, 2006 - WESTBORO, MA - IndustrialLeaders.com, a buying guide and information portal for engineers and other industrial buyers, today announced it has expanded its offerings of building materials available on its Web site.

Building materials now available on the site include roofing materials, plywood, lumber, sheet rock, vinyl siding, hard wood flooring, woodworking tools, whirlpool appliances, stanley tools, home building products, ceramic tile, kitchen cabinets, laminate flooring, garage doors, replacement windows, kitchen appliances, bathroom faucets, shower doors, woodworking tools, home electrical wiring, bathroom and kitchen remodeling products.

"Many users have indicated a serious need to find a better and more reliable on-line source of building materials," says Conrad Bailey, Business Director of IndustrialLeaders.com. "Most directories of building materials on the Internet are either too small, biased to a certain market or just downright unreliable. IndustrialLeaders.com is in a class by itself because it offers one of the fastest ways to find a wide range of building products from leading suppliers world wide."

In addition to the building materials, the site also offers a variety of related products, including power tools, saws, ladders, measuring tapes and lasers, chalk, rulers, knives, hammers, nails, screws, sealants, adhesives, cement, kitchen hardware and much more.

According to Bailey, IndustrialLeaders.com is the only Web site that includes multiple industrial directories integrated into its search systems, intended specifically for companies that buy, sell, design, develop or require industrial supplies, equipment and machinery.

All building materials on IndustrialLeaders.com can be found directly at, http://www.IndustrialLeaders.com/listings/building_materials.html
