

Softomate Extends Mozilla Thunderbird Functionality via Custom Software Solutions

Softomate, April 18, 2006

URL: <http://www.pr9.net/comp/development/3732april.html>

Softomate, leading software development services provider, today announced Thunderbird custom extensions development service to offer software that blends seamlessly with Thunderbird client user interface and adds new custom features resulting in more productive communication experience and information management.

PR9.NET April 18, 2006 - Lynden, USA -- Softomate, leading software development services company, today announced it has introduced Thunderbird custom extensions development service to provide components that will give more options and flexibility for Thunderbird mail client.

Mozilla Thunderbird e-mail and newsgroup client gives fast, safe and productive email experience preventing viruses and spam and also giving anti-fishing protection. Moreover, Thunderbird client offers a high level of customization, allowing to add specific features through third-party Thunderbird extensions of all sorts.

Thunderbird custom extensions provide new unique functionality to complement Thunderbird's built-in features, so user can customize Thunderbird to fit his individual needs. Extensions dock seamlessly to Thunderbird user interface and let add new productive features to Thunderbird to automate some routine operations or add specific functions.

The announced Service aims to provide exclusive Thunderbird-related software solutions from simple extension to complex additional functionality, Thunderbird client modification or integration with another application. The service allows to provide Thunderbird client with different unique features: custom toolbar buttons and menu items, custom logo on the toolbar, mail notification add-on, spam filter, calendar and notes add-ons, contacts and attachments management plug-ins, messages grouping add-on, RSS reader and other specific features; or to integrate Thunderbird with other application to combine their functions in one user interface for more productive and convenient communication experience.

Corporates and web-site communities can use custom Thunderbird related software solutions for their intranets or extranets, internet services and other business needs. Custom toolbar with custom logos, buttons and menus and specific functions gives more quick and convenient communication experience. Thunderbird extensions are helpful software for companies that provide services by e-mail. The custom plug-ins let automatically sort and manage incoming and outgoing messages to make communication process prompt and pleasant.

For more information about Thunderbird customs extensions development Service please visit http://www.softomate.com/thunderbird_extensions/thunderbird_development.html

###

About Softomate

Founded in 1998, headquartered in Washington, USA, with offices in Australia and Russia, Softomate provides international software development services, including web development, porting and migration services; Softomate has profound experience in custom software development in variety of areas.

Phone: +1-877-2438735
Website: <http://www.softomate.com>
E-Mail: press@softomate.com
Address: 104 6th Street, Unit B
Lynden, Washington 98264
USA