Avnex Ltd., the worldwide leader in voice changer software, today introduced the new Voice Changer Software 4.0, which specifically supports voiceover services for audio production.

PR9.NET April 27, 2006 - Nicosia, Cyprus – Avnex Ltd., the worldwide leader in voice changer software, today introduced the new Voice Changer Software 4.0, which specifically supports voiceover services for audio production.

Avnex Marketing Manager, Helen Le, said "I'm astounded at how voiceover demand has taken off in such a short period of time. So, Audio4fun is trying to make our voice quality suits our customers' various needs."

Whether the work is voiceover, narration or podcast, the way it is said is as important as what is said. It takes one more than a native speaker to effectively reach their audiences. They may need to hire highly qualified voice artists and narrators for producing high quality audio recordings if they are not the master of their voices. Usually, these services are costly.

The new voice services are to serve media specialists who have high demand on do-it-yourself voiceovers, voice talents, voice dubbing. This low-cost Voice Changer Software with most popular audio formats and sound effects will help both apprentice and tech-savvy individuals, related but not limited to media field, 'dress up' their voice to their will.

Avnex Ltd. provides high-tech digital studio and audio in Voice Changer Software 4.0 designed to meet digital recording needs. Users will achieve the best audio results they require for television and radio commercials, sales presentations, marketing videos, news releases, training programs, specialized podcast masses, etc. No longer will they have to hire fully equipped crews. You can now produce do-it-yourself voice dubbing alone at home.

The plug-in sets for Voice Changer Software 4.0 include many sound effects, 'nickvoices' which Diamond Edition users can download for free. Other lighter versions' users just need $10 to own a package in order to enrich their sound archives.
