

Free Internet Filter & Parental Controlled TUKI Scout Browser Launched

Childrens Educational Network, February 02, 2006

URL: <http://www.pr9.net/games/consumer/3791february.html>

Children's Educational Network (CEN) announced today the launch of a free Internet filter and parental control software (a kid safe browser) designed to protect and educate children on the Internet. The new TUKI Scout Browser™ (<http://www.scoutbrowser.com>) created by CEN is a kid safe browser designed to educate and protect children from pornography, hate, violence, online predators and other Internet perils.

PR9.NET February 02, 2006 - Escondido, CA – Children's Educational Network (CEN) announced today the launch of a free Internet filter and parental control software (a kid safe browser) designed to protect and educate children on the Internet. The new TUKI Scout Browser™ (<http://www.scoutbrowser.com>) created by CEN is a kid safe browser designed to educate and protect children from pornography, hate, violence, online predators and other Internet perils.

Steven Stone, Chief Operations Officer for CEN, a parent and Eagle Scout said; "When we found that boyslife.com was a pornographic web site, we decided we should build a browser designed just for Scouts to make sure that kids could safely navigate to the magazine's web site without the worry of stumbling across porn."

The new TUKI Scout Browser™ is built on CEN's proprietary technology; however, it is not authorized nor associated with Boy Scouts of America or Girl Scouts of America. "We tried to capture the essence of the Scouting experience" said Greg Writer, CEO & founder of CEN. "The graphical interface, our educational talking character and the pre-approved child appropriate web sites were all selected and programmed with the Scouting experience in mind."

In an effort to further protect children, CEN has programmed the default home page of the TUKI Scout Browser™ to www.BoysLife.org and has launched a marketing campaign in Boys' Life Magazine, the official magazine of the Boy Scouts, where they are offering a free download for the new kid safe browser.

"The TUKI Scout Browser™ will provide a safe haven for children surfing the Internet, be positive, instructive and deliver daily educational content to children and their parents in an effort to teach proper Internet safety rules and netiquette." said Greg Writer. "We are extremely excited to offer a great tool free to all Scouts and their families."

The new TUKI Scout Browser™ will utilize technology that allows children to surf only safe, parent-approved, child-appropriate websites. Unlike a traditional Internet filter or parental controls, the TUKI Scout Browser™ works on an 'include list' which allows children to only surf web sites from a database of pre-approved, pre-screened, child appropriate websites which is, "the safest and most reliable method according to industry experts," said Greg Writer. A great kid safe browser with easy to use parental controls.

Free download of the TUKI Scout Browser™ can be found at www.ScoutBrowser.com .

###

About Childrens Educational Network

Children's Educational Network intends to provide the safest Internet environment for all children to protect them from Internet perils including online predators, pornography, violence and drugs content related sites. Children's Educational Network also aims to significantly contribute to kids' positive growth through a set of tools aiming to educate them and reinforce family values.

Phone: 760-233-2863
Website: <http://www.childreducatonalnetwork.com>
E-Mail: news@kidsafe.com