June is VNR Trial Month for Small, Medium and Big Size Businesses Too

PR9.NET June 08, 2006 - San Diego, CA -- EmailWire.Com (<http://www.emailwire.com>) a newswire and a press release distribution service is launching a VNR trial period for small, medium size businesses as well as for corporate communications. In the past, small businesses have not been able to reach their target audiences with VNR due to lack of time, human resources and the cost it takes to produce one. The advent of the new Internet software coupled with improved and affordable video equipment enable service bureaus to produce VNR at lesser cost.

"We are going to pass this cost savings to our clients without losing quality in output," says Joseph Nchor, editor and publisher of GroupWeb EmailWire.Com. "This month, "we are going to provide businesses with a 90-second VNR for the cost of a text press release," explains Mr. Nchor. Businesses or organizations interested in our trial period should send their 400 words or less press release, company logo, product or service image(s) to the contact email below. GroupWeb EmailWire.Com will provide clients with the finished product for review before the VNR is published online and distributed through Internet distribution channels and RSS feeds. The cost for both VNR and text press release is $199 during the month of June. The turn-around for a VNR production after we have text press release and images is 24 hours.

To view this press release in VNR or other VNRs from other companies, proceed online to www.emailwire.com.
