IncomeHarvest announces a secure Social Network that will challenge traditional Internet portals. This is the first community that lets its members profit by using and promoting the network.

PR9.NET February 13, 2006 - San Diego, CA - IncomeHarvest announces a secure Social Network that is poised to shape the Internet's future and challenge traditional Internet portals. This is the first Social Networking community that lets its members profit by using and promoting a network and, as a result, is expected to easily surpass the speed of growth of many dominant Internet players, including Google.

Coil is being developed by Kanosis Ltd, a Cyprus-based corporation. The Java-based Software-as-a-Service [SaaS] allows subscribers to communicate and collaborate globally, at the highest security levels, using any Internet connected computer. Secure private meetings can take place, protected from malicious Internet viruses, corporate espionage or hackers.

Subscribers' critical data is hosted in strategically placed, world-class, high security global data centers - individuals, entrepreneurs and small businesses are enjoying a level of security that was previously only available to large corporations, banks, or government entities with vital infrastructures. Each subscriber can encrypt critical business-sensitive data or personal files that would be very costly or impossible to recover should they be accidentally destroyed. Data that has been uploaded is insulated from data loss occurring from on-site virus attacks, hard disk crashes, power surges or hardware theft.

Parents love the fact that the invitation-based Kanosian community can shield family members from the threats common to the other Social Networking sites, such as that posed by online predators.

IncomeHarvest is marketing the service using Relationship Marketing. Kanosians who promote the network receive a referral fee - 70% of the $22 monthly subscription fee is returned to those who introduce the service to the global marketplace. Viral Marketing with a bonus!

Lee Matthews, President of IncomeHarvest, stated: "The Coil environment is sophisticated yet simple to use. It unites the global community via an interconnected, secure platform - a place where everyone can meet and communicate, shop or transact business. But best of all, it's a place where folks can profit monetarily from the experience."
