PR9.NET June 15, 2006 - San Diego, CA - IncomeHarvest unveils a Social Network where subscribers can communicate and collaborate globally as well as secure their important personal files and vital business records safely and reliably. Data stored on PCs and laptops is valuable and - whether relating to a business, home finance, a vocation or hobby - the impact of losing irreplaceable files is devastating.

Coil, a Java-based application developed by Cyprus-based Kanosis Ltd., is simple to use and designed for socially active consumers and the SOHO (Small Office, Home Office) marketplace.

With Coil's 2 GB storage space, files can be accessed quickly and reliably from anywhere in the world. Unlimited data transfer allows for the upload or download of data as many times as necessary. Files are instantly available, no matter their format or file type, and the data stored is protected by both U.S. and international law.

Subscribers' critical data is compressed for efficiency and encrypted for security before being transmitted over the Internet and hosted in strategically placed, world-class, high security global data centers - individuals, entrepreneurs and small businesses enjoy a level of security that was previously only available to large corporations, banks, or government entities with vital infrastructures.

IncomeHarvest is marketing this Software-as-a-Service [SaaS] using Relationship Marketing. Kanosians who promote the network and its global storage capability receive a referral fee - 70% of the $22 monthly subscription fee is returned to those who introduce the service to the global marketplace. Viral Marketing with a bonus!

Lee Matthews, President of IncomeHarvest, stated: "Never has the need for electronic storage of personal files and small business records been evidenced more than by recent disasters. Hurricane Katrina, the tornadoes of the central states and fires in the western U.S. reveal why storing important records in an offsite location is vital. Coil gives everyone the ability to do that safely and reliably. Highly secure Kanosis data sites allow this data to be retrieved and accessed from anywhere in the world at any time."
