General Graphic is proud to announce a new partnership with Strategic Group, a leader in the packaging industry.

PR9.NET July 03, 2006 - KAYSVILLE, Utah, Graphic, a leading online distributor of shrink wrap equipment, is proud to announce the addition of Strategic Group's Compack 5800 Shrink Wrap System to its extensive line of packaging and sealing equipment. This new shrink-wrap unit is a recent addition to Strategic Group's line of premium flexible packaging equipment. General Graphic, an exclusive Strategic Group dealer, is now offering this latest apparatus online. The Compack 5800 can be ordered at <http://www.generalgraphic.com/compack5800.htm> and will be delivered within a week. The entire line of shrink-wrap equipment available can be found at <http://www.generalgraphic.com/shrink1.htm>.

Strategic Group is best known for their popular line of high speed wrapping machines, which seal packages in an airtight film for protection during shipping. Strategic Group is considered an industry leader in the design and manufacturing of flexible packaging equipment. The company is based in Irving, TX.

The addition of the new Compack 5800 Shrink-Wrap System brings the quality of Strategic Group products to General Graphic's flex-pack line. The new machines are designed for small to medium-volume use. It features a built-in tunnel that helps quicken the shrink-wrap process. It can be adjusted to different heights to accommodate different users. Strategic Group shrink-wrap units are made for home office, small business and industrial use. The shrink-wrap units have become an instant classic thanks to their quiet motors, energy efficiency and high output.

Shrink-wrapping continues to be increasingly popular due it low cost for packaging, shipping and preserving goods and materials. Shrink-wrap is widely used for packaging CDs, DVDs, software packages and perishable foods, protecting them from dust, pests, surface contamination and moisture. Shrink-wrap units are no longer a "corporate only" product. Use continues to grow in the home as well as the office.
