If you are looking for a RFID yard access solution that allows flexibility, increases data accuracy and improves asset management then the BlueBean Do-it-Yourself RFID SecureAccess Solution Kit is for you. The do-it-yourself RFID logistics management solution kit, used in conjunction with an existing yard management system, allows users to quickly and accurately identify incoming and outgoing trucks and trailers.

PR9.NET July 27, 2006 - Carmel, IN -- "The BlueBean Do-it-Yourself RFID SecureAccess Solution Kit is the answer for anyone who is looking to accurately identify incoming and outgoing trucks and trailers while providing secure yard access," says BlueBean President Gregg Maggioli. "Users can also choose to have the system automatically open and close the gate which can reduce processing time, gate wait times and operating costs."

The BlueBean Do-it-Yourself RFID SecureAccess Solution Kit comes complete with the following components:

- Intermec IF5 RFID Fixed Reader with power supply
- 2 linear antennas with cables
- 10 Gen 2 rigid encapsulated tags
- RFIDSimpleWare (one license)
- Hardware setup and software install instructions
- Demo application
- Controller with status lights
- NEMA enclosure
- Options include antenna stand, additional tags and 25% consulting services discount

The BlueBean Do-it-Yourself RFID SecureAccess Solution Kit can be used at both manned and at automated gates. The tags included in the solution kit are specifically designed for metal trucks and trailers allowing users to automatically capture the tag's identification number for comparison and processing to your backend database.

"This do-it-yourself RFID logistics management solution will improve your data collection accuracy and better utilize your assets. Additionally, it is easy to integrate with your current application," adds Maggioli.

The BlueBean Do-it-Yourself RFID SecureAccess Solution Kit is available for purchase on RFIDSupplyChain.com.
