

Web development firm announces partnership

Page1Development, February 02, 2006

URL: <http://www.pr9.net/business/assoc/4350february.html>

Indiana website development company will partner with custom van dealership to promote and sell their services via the world wide web.

PR9.NET February 02, 2006 - Shawn Ryan, a prominent website development expert and the president of Page1Development, a Indiana website development and marketing company, has announced a partnership with a midwestern auto dealership to development the website <http://www.customvansforsale.com>.

Ryan's company is focused primarily on his areas of expertise, which include website development, search engine optimization (SEO), search engine marketing (SEM), and content development. Ryan said, "We at Page1Development are pleased to announce this partnership. The potential of this site is tremendous and we look forward to creating long-term value for our new clients." We are excited about our sales growth in 2006 in terms of our publishing partners, and as we move into 2007, we hope to create additional value in the form of cross-promotion of existing client websites."

Ryan continued, "The best sites combine compelling content and lively graphics to communicate with users. We will use this combination to help make the right impression for customvansforsale.com as we begin development. Moving carefully through the process of target market analysis, design, content writing, and following up with search engine marketing, search engine optimization, and finally reporting and analysis, we are confident that this new project will be a successful one." Ryan followed by indicating that his company has experienced double digit year-over-year growth for the past 5 years, and he sees the demand for this type of development and promotion continuing to grow over the next decade.

In response to growing requests for a website to showcase their custom van products, customvansforsale.com will be a new retail outlet for the company and will introduce new custom van models as they become available. Initially the company will launch with photos of existing custom van models, and eventually develop into a full-fledged ecommerce website. Development will begin in early September with a scheduled launch date of October 15th.

###

About Page1Development

Page1Development is a website design company specializing in content development and marketing.