New Tourist Site with Information about Lanzarote Launches

PR9.NET September 01, 2006 - New York – Lanzarote is one of the most popular travel destinations off the Coast of Africa. Located in the Canary Islands, Lanzarote is 60 miles away from the African shore and recently a new web site, <http://www.lanzarotetourist.com>, provides tourists with all of the information they need.

The web site has all of the hottest and most popular attractions in the area from the Teguisse Market to the Cactus Gardens, LagOmar, and dozens of other destinations. The web site also provides information that you need to know about the various resorts in the area and keeps you up to date with all of the happenings and events in Lanzarote with its blog. LanzaroteTourist.com also has weather information so you know how the climate and weather will be during your visit.

"Lanzarote was a relatively unknown island that in recent months has become a tourist hotspot so we wanted to create a web site where visitors can get all the information they need before planning a visit to the area," said webmaster First Last. "We have all of the top attractions, events, resorts, and much more at our web site."

The web site also has a list of the top excursions in the area so you can explore the island on the ground, in the air, or even underwater in a submarine.

You can visit the web site and see all that Lanzarote offers at <http://www.lanzarotetourist.com>.
