It's time that we revise our views of psychics and spiritualists as strange, withdrawn, and snobbish individuals. At the Universal Psychic Guild forum get to meet real psychics who are just as human at heart as you are. Start making real, positive connections.

PR9.NET September 29, 2006 - Victoria, Australia - Psychics, healers, and spiritualists from all over have finally found a quiet but insightful page where they can impart their gifts in the divine art and science of spirituality.

Welcome to the Universal Psychic Guild Forum, the forum committed to uniting psychics from all over the world. This is where they can share with each other their spiritual experiences in their respective fields of specialization. In a world that is increasingly becoming jaded with regards to crucial matters such as faith and salvation, the Universal Psychic Guild Forum offers a calm refuge, a friendly meeting ground, and an effective platform in one.

Here members, practitioners and non-practitioners alike, can interact and learn from each other. Psychics can broaden their audience through the Forum, and communicate more directly with their loyal following. On the other hand, those just recently discovering the significance of spirituality can get answers and advice on anything. Tarot readings, dream interpretation, channeling, meditation, past lifetimes, séance, karmas--anything that reinforces a much-needed spirituality in our sadly confused world is discussed in the forum.

Because the Universal Psychic Guild has a mission to spreading to the world the once-obscure and protected realm of spirituality, it welcomes announcements about symposiums, festivals, forums, and future healing sessions that people need to know. Indeed, through the Internet's converging powers, everyone can contribute to the enrichment of spiritual knowledge. After all, it is through sharing positive energies with each other that people can achieve well-being.
