Official MyGamer.com eStore already features thousands of products

PR9.NET October 05, 2006 - Sparta, NJ – MyGamer.com is proud to announce that their online store is now up and running. Everything from games to consoles to various accessories can be purchased at discount prices.

The online store is run through an affiliation with Amazon, allowing MyGamer.com to sell thousands of products, while protecting the security of all customers. There are currently over 29,000 consoles, games, and accessories available for purchase, and more products are being added on a frequent basis. MyGamer.com also offers various online discounts allowing you to save up to 20% on certain items.

To help launch the new eStore, the web site has also begun monthly contests giving away numerous gamer related prizes. Information on these contests can be found in the "Community" section of the web site. One of the most popular contests run on a frequent basis at MyGamer is the screenshot contest, where users must guess what game the screenshot posted is from. The first member to correctly guess that game wins cash.

"We are elated to open the MyGamer online store," said President & CEO, Stan Spaeth. "It has taken a lot of effort and testing to make sure everything is in order, but our members can now purchase the games and accessories they want at affordable prices, while keeping all their sensitive information secure."

MyGamer is one of the leading video game online resource guide and features thousands of reviews, previews and news from the latest consoles. The web site also has a video archive as well as a download section where gamers can get the newest demos, patches, mods, and more, and a section dedicated entirely to cheats.

You can visit My gamer at <http://www.MyGamer.com> and shop at their online store at <http://www.mygamer.com/store/home>.
