PR9.NET November 30, 2006 - Singapore – Discover the stumbling blocks that are preventing you from living your fullest potential. Discover why no matter how hard you have worked and applied all the success formulas available in the market, you still can't achieve the success you desire.

Steven Fu of AwarenessSeries.com, claims they have the answers to the above questions in the form of an e-book, Awareness Series Book 1: The Seven Basic Laws Of Nature. There appears to be a "miracle remedy" on the scene.

The remedy comes at a surprisingly affordable price too, of $16.88. That's not all, included in the package is a bonus audio book of the same, a recording of a life seminar by the author, explaining the workings of the principles and a free one year's subscription to AwarenessSeries Premium Newsletters.

The book is authored by The Uneducated One and marketed by Steven Fu. This is the first time the book is made available on line, let alone the bonuses.

Steven explained that there are seven basic nature's laws that govern our lives, being aware of and living by them will lead one to a life of happiness, health, wealth and abundance.

He also acknowledged, becoming successful is not about abilities or talents, and that it's all about building a strong foundation. The very foundation for success, he concludes, is understanding how nature's laws work and living by them. Awareness Series Book 1: The Seven Basic Laws Of Nature shows you exactly how to do that.

According to existing customers, the book is easy to understand and the practical examples illustrated, make the principles easy to be applied in everyday life; they no longer need to purchase any other success books.

This is great news for those who are looking to change their lives for the better and for those who have exhausted on ways to achieve their life's goals and desires.

Steven, of the marketing division announced, this super low price will last only until the end of the year as a special promotion for the product launch.
