The Harvard International Law Journal is now online thanks to PaperStreet Web Design.

PR9.NET December 06, 2006 - Fort Lauderdale, Florida -- PaperStreet is proud to announce that the Harvard International Law Journal is now online. The new site showcases the journal in a modern and original fashion while maintaining always its prestige and integrity.

The Harvard International Law Journal, whose new web site is <http://www.harvardilj.com>, is one of the foremost student-edited international and comparative law specialty journals in the United States. It publishes articles on international, comparative, and foreign law, the role of international law in U.S. courts, and the international ramifications of U.S. domestic law. These articles are written by the most prominent scholars and practitioners in the field, as well as Harvard Law School students, and have been recognized as important contributions to the development of international law. The ILJ also leads discussion and debate on international law at Harvard by hosting various speakers and symposia.
