PR9.NET January 15, 2007 - Atlantic City, NJ – Atlantic City, New Jersey is most well known for its summer attitude – Jersey beaches, boardwalk overflowing with excitement, and thrilling, non-stop casino play. What visitors don't know is that winter in AC offers its own brand of vacation fun.

For those travelers who are seeking something active, horseback riding on the beach during the off-season winter months is a romantic way to explore the Jersey shore line. Meandering along the beach or boardwalk while bundled up to ward off the cool ocean winds, or attending a public skate session at the Flyers Skate Zone, are great ways to keep warm. While on the boardwalk, visitors should try New Jersey's famous sandwich – the Taylor ham, egg, and cheese and swing by Steel's Fudge for a delightful assortment of fresh-made candy.

Travelers who want to stay indoors should check out Ripley's Believe it or Not Museum, the Ocean Life Aquarium, world-class shows ranging from comedy to musicals and everything in between, and the IMAX Theater at the Tropicana's newest hot spot, the Quarter that boasts restaurants, eclectic shops, upscale boutiques and jewelry stores, and art galleries.

The Walk, Atlantic City outlets are sure to please bargain hunters with their Miss America-themed walk, 52 name brand outlet stores, entertainment venues, and restaurants stretching from the Convention Center to the famed Boardwalk. The Pier Shops at Caesars will delight even the most discriminating shopper with its wide array of luxury shopping boutiques including world-class names like Gucci, Louis Vuitton, Armani, Burberry, and Tiffany & Company. The Pier also features upscale dining, entertainment, a health spa, and salon to further enhance the visitor's experience.

The casinos, beach, and boardwalk have all undergone improvements in recent years and are well-received by travelers.
