iCollegeWeb.com makes finding affordable used text books easy

PR9.NET January 16, 2007 - Los Angeles, CA – After months of design and development, iCollegeWeb.com has finally launched. The web site is young, but is already one of the best places to find used textbooks online.

One of the greatest expenses that many students face when they first come to college is the price of their textbooks, which often can cost over $700 a year. With iCollegeWeb.com, you can buy text books second hand and save hundreds of dollars.

iCollegeWeb.com is fast and very easy to use. Buyers and sellers negotiate prices so buyers can buy a text book for less than the prices of used text books at book stores, and sellers can get more for their text book than they would if they sold their used book to a retailer. It's a win0win situation.

Currently, there are well over 1500 text books in the iCollegeWeb.com Database, so you can be sure to find the book you need at a great price.

You can visit the site and buy or sell text books at <http://www.icollegeweb.com>.
