Staying on the forefront of technological advancement in the pricing software market.

PR9.NET February 15, 2007 - London, United Kingdom – 14 February, 2007 – Stratinis, Europe's most recent provider of international price management solutions, today announced support for the Microsoft Windows Vista™ operating system.

"To support those of our customers who are early adopters in implementing the Windows Vista platform we are announcing today that our upcoming Pricing Suite will be fully compatible", said Stratinis' CEO and Founder Mr. Finn Helmo Hansen at an event in London. On the question of the availability of the Stratinis Pricing Suite Mr. Hansen said: "We are on schedule to launch our solution by this summer and expect to go into the testing phase shortly".

The Stratinis Pricing Suite is also fully compatible with the Windows® XP platform.

The upcoming Stratinis Pricing Suite is a unique tool for managing prices both locally and internationally. The average company stands to improve operating income by more than 8% for each 1% improvement in prices, so clients can achieve substantial profit by using our enterprise class application.
