Hollywood writer/Producer Steven Feinberg will be promoting filmmaking in Rhode Island at a forum co-hosted with George T. Marshall, CEO/ Director of the Rhode Island International Film Festival (RIIFF) and Jonathan Raben, Producer/Director of the documentary film, Italian Americans and Federal Hill

PR9.NET February 02, 2007 - Cranston, Rhode Island - Hollywood writer/Producer Steven Feinberg, now Director of Rhode Island's Film and Television Office will be co-hosting a forum sponsored by the Borders Group, in his native Cranston, Rhode Island.

Appearing with Mr. Feinberg will be George T. Marshall, CEO/ Director of the Rhode Island International Film Festival (RIIFF) and Jonathan Raben, Producer/Director of the highly acclaimed independent documentary film, Italian Americans and Federal Hill which was made entirely in Rhode Island.

The theme of the lecture/discussions will be "Filmmaking Magic in Rhode Island" and will be followed by a Q & A. The program is designed to be of interest to filmmakers and the general public. Special guests and personalities from the film industry are also expected to attend.

"I am really excited about the groundswell in filmmaking occurring in Rhode Island," said Producer Jonathan Raben. "The digital age is here and it has opened up an inexpensive and easier way for people to get involved in filmmaking and Rhode Island is a great place to make films. The event will be a networking opportunity for filmmakers, students or anyone interested in film."

The event is open to the public and will be held at Borders Books and Music, Garden City, 190 Hillside Rd., Cranston Rhode Island on Friday, March 9th at 7:00 pm.
