Vigo County School Corporation (<http://metadot.vigoco.k12.in.us>) chose Portland Portals (<http://www.portlandportals.us>) to create their multiple school Metadot intranet extranet portal skin design.

PR9.NET March 25, 2007 - Portland, Oregon - "Portland Portals handled all facets of the new Metadot skin design implementation, including designing and implementing the new skin, leaving us free to manage our Metadot Content. We anticipate excellent reviews from users of our new website portal and we feel Portland Portals gave us a great value." said Doug L. Macklem, Vigo County Schools Corporation.

Vigo County Schools Corporation, located in Terre Haute, Indiana, is made up of high school, middle and elementary school Intranet Extranet websites as well as central administration and information portal pages.

Portland Portals developed initial design mock-ups based on their existing content website, including our exclusive Metadot Rotating Content Gizmo, and integrated the Metadot skin to conform to Vigo County Schools content management processes.

Portland Portals allows small and medium size organizations to benefit from the collaboration tools used by large corporations and governments without the usual large investment required for similar solutions. Based on the Metadot Portal Server, an open source intranet extranet solution, the Portland Portals Hosted Solution products are perfect for small and medium sized companies wishing to share information across the Internet with several types of groups.

"Vigo has integrated the Metadot system into their content management process allowing better control over content generated from multiple locations" said Scott Hucke, President of Portland Portals. "They now can allow multiple authors to contribute to the content of their website without involving a webmaster all along the way. Each of their schools has their own web page allowing the content management to flow out to where the content is generated, within their schools".
