Jules-Love-Lines.com is the first to provide online adult toy parties for internet friends to enjoy. Until this point these parties were restricted by geography but now myspace.com, chat room and all walks of friends can attend adult toy parties online.

PR9.NET March 29, 2007 - Battle Ground, Washington – Julie Wedgeworth founder of Jules-Love-Lines.com has announced beginning Friday March 30th, 2007 at 7:00pm PST Jules-Love-Lines.com will become the first online adult toy party service on the internet.

Adult Toy Parties are similar to your mothers Tupperware parties but with a more enticing affair of closed door paraphernalia. These parties have traditionally been held at host houses with a group of close friends all laughing together. While being extremely fun and giggle inducing adult toy parties have always been limited geographically.

Jules-Love-Lines.com will be lifting this geographical burden allowing Myspace.com, chat room, forum and all walks of internet friends to converge in one place for an online adult toy party. The parties are for people new to adult toys, married, curious, single, along with those who may be a little more experienced when the lights go out. Parties are held in Jules-Love-Lines.com personal chat rooms where users will be greeted with big discounts, free items, hilarious party games, advice, tips and invigorating conversation.

Jules-Love-Lines.com guests can attend an online adult toy party in several ways. The first is to come to one of their open parties which anyone can attend it requires you log into their chat room on the party day, a calender of dates is available from the site. You can also attend a party hosted by a friend if you receive an invitation. The final option is to host your own party and get free gifts and big discounts, the staff at Jules-Love-Lines.com will take care of all the invitations and conduct the party on party day you will only be required to provide the guests. The choice is left to you depending on your desires.

"Our parties are great and online will be even better but we promise that after the party is when things really heat up" says owner and founder of Jules-Love-Lines.com, Julie Wedgeworth "Our guests will always get satisfied."

All the parties are conducted in a professional manner and tailored to the guests. "We keep our parties classy for all to enjoy," explains Julie "our goal is to put the spice back in your love life."
