Net Solutions North America, LLC (NSNA) a well known name in the web development & e-commerce circles has recently partnered with Western Washington University to provide Internship Programs for Business School students.

PR9.NET April 20, 2007 - Bellingham, Washington – NSNA conducted several rounds of selection process to find the best candidate for this program. After considering a number of different parameters, David Dorn was selected.

David Dorn, who is in his final quarter of his Management 414 class at Western Washington University, has completed an online web portfolio for Net Solutions that captured the creativity and innovation in all of Net Solutions projects. His duties included being the project manager for creating a website for Arlis's Restaurant and creating a new online web portfolio.

As a leading web development company, NSNA has extensive web design and web development skills combined with the expertise necessary to help its clients establish a good presence on the Internet or to take it to the next level. This involves developing the functionality and navigation of the basic site, designing the creative content and graphics, and, finally, formatting and loading the content to the actual site. When asked to list their team's strengths, Net Solutions' President Patrice Valentine stated, "Knowledge and Expertise are our main strengths but being able to translate this technical jargon into plain English is what sets us apart.. With a wealth of database integration and development experience to draw on and experience with the latest web technologies, our team of web developers can develop web-based solutions to overcome any business challenge."

Patrice also listed a host of other online services that NSNA offers. "Net Solutions North America's development limit does not end at web design, web promotion, hosting and domain name registration. NSNA also provides other web design services from our development center," said Patrice.

NSNA's Web Design Services include:

- Unique Web Builder Tools
- Website Template Designing
- Banner Advertising
- Logo Design and Identity Packages
- E-Newsletter Templates
- Microsoft® PowerPoint® Templates
