PR9.NET April 19, 2007 - New York, NY - New York Document Scanning today announced that it has introduced a new litigation support service in Manhattan. The new services enables the company's legal scanning and litigation support group to bring its consultative process to law firm and corporate clients located in the New York, New Jersey, Philadelphia and Los Angeles.

New York Document Scanning offers some of the best prices in New York City and a wide range of solutions ranging from litigation support services such as high-capacity document scanning, blowback, courtroom trial presenting, data entry and OCR (Optical Character Recognition) services, and customized load files – both ASCII or TXT files that are compatible with most document management software like Summation, Sanction II and Concordance.

The new service provide a range of litigation support services such as Courtroom Trial Presenting, Document Coding and Indexing, Load File Creation, EBS (Electronic Bates Stamping and support for Summation, Sanction II, Concordance Trial Director and VideoSynch.

Our consultative process is dramatically different than most other consulting firms in the industry, in that our long-term goal is to provide your firm the skills necessary to become autonomous. We believe it is our job to not just consult on your current case, but also train you to be able to more confidently attack your next project with or without us. This approach maximizes your investment and minimizes future costs to both the firm and your clients.
