Executive Gaming Monthly will be offering their High Roller Level Packages to all celebrity attendants that come to their MTV Movie Awards Gift Suite booth.

PR9.NET May 21, 2007 - Trenton, New Jerseyx – Executive Gaming Monthly is proud to announce that it will be in attendance at this year's MTV Movie Awards. The company will be giving out its High Roller Level Home Game Packages to all celebrities who visit their booth at the GBK Productions' gift suite at the Sofitel Hotel in Los Angeles.

Executive Gaming Monthly is the first and only Casino Game of the Month Gift Club. It offers the most popular casino games to their customers, ranging from Blackjack to Craps to Texas Hold'em. Customers can choose which game packages to have delivered to their doorstep each month. The High Roller Package which is being offered to all those who visit the company at the MTV Movie Awards offers a luxurious home gaming experience at an affordable price. It contains everything one needs to host their favorite casino game at home with their buddies. The company also offers a Player Level Package that provides all the supplies that are needed to play, as well as a Whale Level Package that offers the most luxurious home gaming experience possible.

"We are very happy to be part of the MTV Movie Awards," said company President Eric Hansel. "The MTV Movie Awards are an historic event each year and we are thrilled to be able to offer our products in the Gift Suite."

EGM will also be giving back to charity at the event by donating 5 High Roller Level Packages to various charitable organizations.

Gavin Keilly, President of GBK Productions said, "We are excited to have Executive Gaming Monthly and their unique Casino Game of the Month Gift Club in our gift suite."

You can visit the web site and get all the information on all packages at <http://www.executivegamingmonthly.com/store/home.php>. As part of a current promotion, those who enter coupon code "MTV07" when checking out during the MTV Movie Awards week (May 30-June 5) will receive 15% off their purchase.
