MaxFilings Online Incorporation Service announced that customers using its new web site www.maxfilings.com to incorporate online or form an LLC can take advantage of a free professionally prepared press release for a limited time.

PR9.NET May 22, 2007 - Tampa, FLx – MaxFilings Online Incorporation Service today announced a promotion to kick off its new web site www.maxfilings.com where business owners can incorporate online or form an LLC online easily in all 50 states. The company has partnered with a professional online promotion services firm, SEO Advantage (www.seo-advantage.com), to offer for a limited time a free professionally prepared press release for customers placing orders, in celebration of the new web site launch.

The free press release is available to any company that forms a corporation or LLC online through the MaxFilings business formation service. The promotion includes a consultation with a copywriter, who will prepare the press release and distribute it to major outlets online upon approval. Companies benefit from the online media exposure for their newly formed corporation or LLC. Additional promotional services such as graphic design for logos, business cards, corporate stationery, and web sites, are also available, as well as specialized services including search engine optimization.

"This is an exciting opportunity for business owners to incorporate their business and gain promotional exposure at the same time," commented Jim Reuning, president of MaxFilings, Inc. "We are thrilled to partner with SEO Advantage to make this caliber of promotional services available to newly formed businesses. MaxFilings provides exceptional value beyond any other online incorporation service, and this partnership with SEO Advantage helps our customers hit the ground running as they incorporate and grow their businesses successfully."

SEO Advantage Marketing Director Lisa Banks said, "We are enthusiastic about this partnership, as MaxFilings truly offers an affordable, simple means for business to incorporate online. The free press release we are offering is designed to help new corporations and LLCs start promoting themselves right away, and also give them a sample of our services. We look forward to providing these services to MaxFilings customers, and we hope the new companies we serve will continue to work with us for all their promotional needs as they grow."

The free press release promotion is available for a limited time only. Companies are encouraged to submit their online incorporation or LLC formation at www.MaxFilings.com as soon as possible.
